BLOOD-SMEARED THIEF ESCAPES AFTER CRACKUP

Steals Ernest Whitacre's
Car, Speeds North On

HITS COAL TRUCK AT BROOKS' FARM

Climbs Out of Wreckage and Is Picked Up by Accomplice

Salem state highway patrolmen and city police searched to no avail late yesterday for a blood-spattered auto thief who fled with an accomplice after a car the former had stolen overturned on Route 62, near the Brooks farm, just north of the city.

Corp. W. E. Arey of the patrol said doctors' offices throughout the district were checked in an effort to find the thief, who, apparently, was injured in the crack-up.

Car Was New

The stolen car was a new model owned by Ernest Whitacre of Carnegie ave., Cleveland, who had just purchased the machine and had driven here to visit a sister. Mrs. William White, residing near the golf club on the Lisbon road, Whitacre drove his sister to Kaufman's grocery on Broadway to sell some eggs. The car was left running while they went into the store.

They had hardly got inside, at 2:40 p. m., when the car was stolen. Ten minutes later the new machine was a complete wreck on Route 62.

State patrolmen and Patrolman Nerr Gaunt said the thief failed to make the turn in the highway near the Brooks farm due to excessive speed and that the car struck a coal truck driven by Mike Hutter, 46, of Salem, overturned and rolled in a ditch along the road and finally hit a telephone pole, snapping the pole as though it were matchwood.

Picked Up By Accomplice

Hutter told the officers the driver, with blood covering his face, clambered out of the wrecked car and was picked up by an accomplice in an automobile which had been following him. The car then sped north toward New Albany.

The license number of the thief's car was not obtained but state highway patrolmen still hold hopes the defendants would be eventually located.

Hutter, who was driving south on Route 62 at the time of the accident, escaped injury. His truck was damaged considerably.

City's Pay Delayed; Awaits Solons' O.K.

City employees failed to receive their bi-monthly pay yesterday on schedule but were given assurance that the tardy salaries would be forthcoming, probably Thursday.

Payment of wages was held up due because the annual appropriation ordinance could not be presented to pass on the measure at the regular meeting tonight.

The appropriation legislation will be taken to Lisbon tomorrow for the official O. K. of the county auditor.

Accused Leaders, Arms Cache Seized by G-Men in U. S. Plot

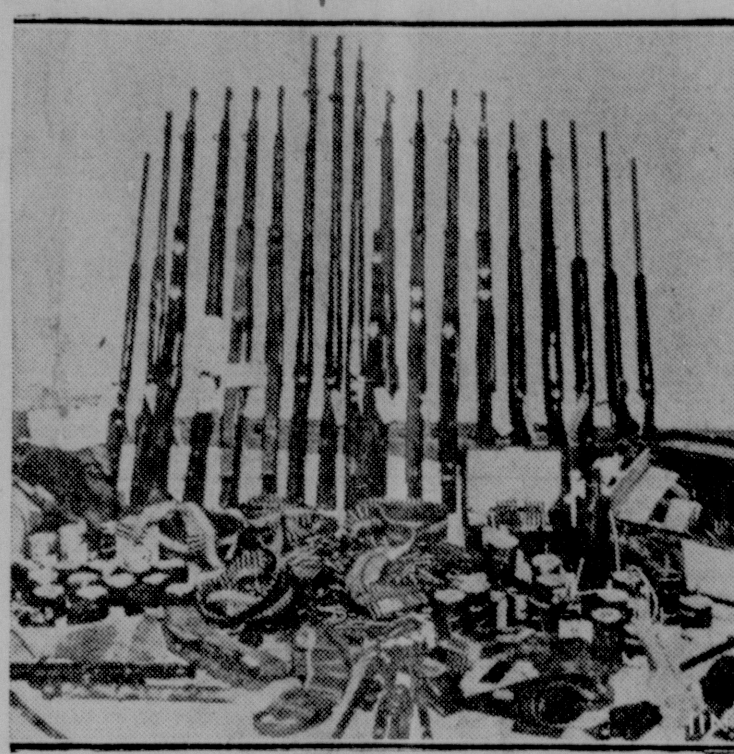

John F. Cassidy

William G. Bishop

Terroristic plot to overthrow the United States government, assassinate several congressmen and seize the U. S. army strongholds is nipped by federal agents who arrest 18 members of the "Christian Front" society and accuse them of conspiracy to create a revolution. The G-men seized guns, ammunition, bombs and other armaments in raids on several places and named two men as ringleaders. They are John F. Cassidy and William G. Bishop, both of New York, shown following their arrest.

SWIRLING SNOW BLANKETS OHIO

Northern Area Well Covered;
"Continued Cold"
Is Forecast

Swirling snow blanketed northeastern Ohio today with the mercury at 13 degrees above zero.

The U. S. weather bureau at Cleveland reported a fall of nearly three inches overnight. Snow was general from Cleveland eastward into New York state. There was a 21-mile northwest wind.

The state highway department reported heavy drifts on Route 534 in Ashtabula county. Flows were assigned to keep the highway open. Traffic in Cleveland moved slowly. Buses operating between Lorain and Cleveland were half an hour behind schedule.

The temperature at Cleveland, Akron and Toledo was 13 at 9 a. m. Columbus reported an overnight minimum of 14, Cincinnati 17, and Dayton 15.

The forecast for Ohio was "continued cold," mostly cloudy and occasional light snow during the day.

John Ogrizek, 58, was killed by an automobile at Cleveland. The driver of the car said falling snow obscured his vision.

Steamboat operations resumed at Cincinnati after virtually all ice cleared from the harbor. River craft were forced to shore a week ago because of ice conditions.

Miss Elizabeth Horne, Retired, To Be Given Testimonial Dinner Thursday, Jan. 25

Miss Elizabeth Horne, retired veteran teacher of the Salem public schools, is to be honored by friends and former pupils at a testimonial dinner in the Presbyterian church at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, Jan. 25.

The affair is being arranged by the principals of the Salem schools at the suggestion of members of the board of education who felt that some sort of recognition be given Miss Horne for her great service to the community.

All friends and former pupils of the retired teacher are invited to the dinner, it is explained, and reservations must be made not later than next Monday.

LEETONIA P. T. A. WORKERS NAMED

President Powell's Committee Chosen; Judge Gessner Speaker

LEETONIA, Jan. 16.—Monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of the Leetonia school district was held Monday evening at the High school building, with G. E. Powell, the president, in charge.

Musical selections were sung by 10 girls, members of the High school choir, with Charles E. Thompson as accompanist.

Judge George H. Gessner of Youngstown, common pleas judge, spoke on "An Education." Judge Gessner discussed five points in his talk, "appearance, knowledge, religion, social and travel."

President Powell appointed the following committees: Card party, Mrs. H. R. Mellinger, Royce Briggs, Miss Helen Schaeffer.

Underprivileged child, F. R. Naragon, superintendent of schools, Leon Force, principal at South Side building, and Joseph Justice, principal at the Washingtonville building.

The executive committee will have charge of the program for the February meeting. Two projects under consideration are the electric scoreboard for the gymnasium, and a hot water tank for the home economics department.

Representing Columbiana county at the conference were Mr. Hill, county chairman, and Mrs. L. M. Kyes of East Palestine, chairman of the Republican women of the county.

At a meeting of Republican county chairman of the district held in Steubenville Monday night, Harry Wintringer of Steubenville and St. Clair Archer of Bellaire were endorsed for delegates to the Republican national convention.

Walter B. Hill of East Liverpool and Victor Rowland of Cadiz were endorsed for alternates. Both had previously been nominated for delegates. Wintringer and Archer defeated them in the balloting.

Before their names can go on the ballots at this May primaries, these district delegates and alternates must have the approval of Senator Robert A. Taft, candidate for president.

BRITISH ADMIT LOSS OF THREE SUBS IN ACTION

Statement Comes After Announcement By Germany

SWEDEN, NORWAY
PROTEST TO REDS

Lowlands Still Fear German Invasion, In Spite Of Denials

(By Associated Press)

Britain today gave up three submarines as lost, the first acknowledged British submarine losses due to German action during the war.

The admiralty said the submarines Starfish, Seahorse and Undine, which carried normal complements totalling 107 men, were counted as war casualties since they failed to report to their bases in the past week. Britain said she believed one German submarine had been sunk in the North sea.

Nazis Make Announcement

The British statement came shortly after Germany announced two British submarines had been destroyed in Helgoland light and part of their crews saved. The Germans named the Undine and Starfish, but made no mention of the Seahorse.

Stepped up sea warfare between the western belligerents accompanied new strain on relations between the Soviet Union and the Scandinavian neutrals.

A Soviet broadcast accused Sweden of forcing her unemployed to fight for Finland, a renewal of Russian charges that Finland's neighbors were failing to observe strict neutrality in the Russian-Finnish conflict.

Both Sweden and Norway protested to Moscow yesterday against alleged Soviet violations of their territory—Russian bombers were said to have attacked a Swedish island and Red warplanes to have flown over far northern Norway.

Answers "Unsatisfactory"

The two neutral nations, fearful of becoming embroiled in the northern warfare, previously had denied Russia's charge that they were giving official sanction to sending of men and war supplies to Finland, but the Kremlin said the Swedish-Norwegian replies were unsatisfactory.

A Moscow broadcast asserted that reduction of Swedish public works and social welfare programs, as announced last week by King Gustaf V, was forcing the unemployed to enlist for Finland on the promise of good wages to fight Russia. Sweden's aged monarch attributed the reductions to the necessity of a large war budget for defense measures.

Finns reported transportation difficulties were hampering the Russian invaders, particularly on the Karelian isthmus where great masses of troops have been concentrated in an attempt, thus far unsuccessful, to crack the main Finnish defense line.

A number of Finnish cities tabulated new damage from Soviet air raids yesterday. Hardest hit were the coastal cities of Viipuri and Turku.

Russia reported bestowal of decorations on 2,606 fighters in the Finnish campaign.

Lowlands on Guard

Belgium and the Netherlands, which also fear war involvement, kept their war forces most totally mobilized as the result of reports last weekend that German troops

JURY CONTINUES LUDWIG'S CASE

Four Other Cases Held
Over; 11 Indictments
Listed

LISBON, Jan. 16.—The January grand jury, following a seven-day session which began last Monday, returned 11 indictments, ignored 10 cases and continued five others in a report issued at noon today.

Included in the true bills were two secret indictments, while three of the five continued cases were held secret.

Among the continued cases is that of George Ludwig of Salem, held on a murder charge in connection with the hatchet slaying of Andrew Drotlett in Salem last July.

Ludwig's case had been continued by the September grand jury after evidence failed to support the charge.

Those named in the true bills today include:

Teofil Andrel, Salem, violation of liquor laws.

R. Nixon Plithian, Salem, embezzlement.

Charles Feicht, Greenford, assault.

Harvey Walton, East Palestine, non-support.

Ross Adams, East Liverpool, assault with intent to rob.

Raymond Feezel and Eugene Straley, New Waterford, larceny.

William Snowden, Youngstown, reckless driving.

A. C. Halverstadt, Columbiana, reckless driving.

Kermit Crouse, Columbiana, assault and battery.

Cases Ignored

Cases ignored by the jurors were: Willard Zimmerman, Salem, reckless driving.

Chris Zelle, Salem, failure to stop.

E. M. Harrold, Salem, exhibiting a slot machine.

Actress' Husband Protests Marriage; Sips Poison Potion

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—Film Actress Joan Bennett's first husband, John Marion Fox, 38, lay gravely ill in a hospital today, a victim of poisoning from an overdose of sleeping tablets.

"I didn't like the idea of Joan Bennett being married to that other guy," Fox was quoted as saying by Daily A. D. Trotter, police surgeon.

Miss Bennett was married last week in Phoenix, Ariz., to Walter Wanger, motion picture producer. Dr. Trotter said Fox—once wealthy but listed at the hospital as a salesman—told him he had taken 100 tablets of a hypnotic drug. The physician gave him a chance of recovery, but added "it will be some time before we can tell."

Detectors said Fox called an ambulance to his apartment shortly before midnight and asked that he be taken to a hospital.

Fox, a former Seattle broker, is the father of Miss Bennett's daughter, Diana, 11. He and the actress were married in London Sept. 15, 1926, and divorced Aug. 1, 1928.

He attributed his divorce from Miss Bennett to his fondness for alcohol but contended he had given up drinking.

WHY AN EXCEPTION?

When Columbiana county's sheriff drove his car across the sidewalk into a house instead of successfully negotiating a turn from one busy street to another busy street, it didn't require much stretching of the imagination for the average citizen to call it a plain case of reckless driving.

What this same average citizen would like to know, and has been asking ever since the incident, is why no arrest was made. Does the fact that the driver happens also to be the county's sheriff make any difference? If so, just when did the law excuse a sheriff or any other public official? Reckless driving is reckless driving, no matter who happens to be at the wheel, and in this case a very serious accident might have resulted. It was only lady luck who saw to it that there were no pedestrians on the sidewalk at that busy corner at the time of the crash.

Perhaps county officials can answer this riddle for us.

LADY LAWYERS

Gentle Portia broke the ice and won Bassanio to boot, setting an example for lady lawyers of all ages. Nevertheless, the law remains a tough nut for the female of the species barrister to crack.

With an eye to publicity effect, it may be imagined, congressmen belaboring National Labor Relations board employees have been firing questions at certain modern Portias on the board's roster. These young women, it seems, have been helping to prepare some of the board's momentous opinions.

They were, no doubt, capable, sincere, honest—and whatever else they were supposed to be. But it is not hard to imagine that touchy citizens who have objected, strenuously at times, to collegians taking the affairs of the nation into their uncalculated hands are having strokes of apoplexy over revelation that co-eds were in the background. They thought they'd seen the end when Miss Perkins took over the department of labor, but that was only the beginning.

UNGUIDED LILY

As all its constant readers know, The Congressional Record turns up new goodies per square inch than the diamond mines at Kimberley. Here's a gem of plain, unadorned truth about representative democracy that fell from the lips of Rep. Sumners of Texas last week. Warning his compatriots not to cut off their noses to spite the south in the anti-lynching bill fiasco, he said:

"You cannot preserve a democratic system of government unless you preserve the governmental responsibility of the individual citizen of that system. All progress in a democratic system of government is in that direction which moves governmental power and responsibility closer and closer to the people. . . . When the problems of government exceed the governmental capacity of the people, then democracy must fade out of the picture."

Which explains why democracy in Europe never has worked at all in some countries and only indifferently in others and suggests what will happen in the United States if government continues to grow so complex and muddled that only a Mr. Big somewhere seems to have brains and gumption enough to run it.

PARADISE LOST

By painting the rosiest picture of the 1941 budget possible, the President manages to keep the next fiscal year's deficit $62,000,000 under the U. S. treasury's legal borrowing limit. This is exactly like planning to go on a year's journey with expenses figured so close that if everything goes all right there will be half a dollar left over. Mr. Roosevelt isn't kidding anyone, not even himself.

It is known in advance that nothing but a miracle—a super-miracle at that—can hold the 1941 deficit down to $2,176,000,000, the figure used in the budget message. Mr. Roosevelt, himself, says supplementary appropriations may be necessary in several categories. Furthermore, the outcome of his budget hinges on adoption of new taxes for national defense and farm parity payments, both unlikely in an election year. His budget gets the 1940 medal for wishful thinking.

Nevertheless, by submitting a budget that will hold the national debt theoretically under the treasury's borrowing limit of 45 billion dollars, the President has passed the buck to congress. Its members have been put in the middle, no mistake about it. The fine old American custom of raiding the pork barrel, the cookie jar, cake box and jelly cupboard, then blaming the President won't work. He has beaten his congressional critics to the punch.

Mr. Roosevelt can't be blamed for not wanting to take sole responsibility for pushing the debt over the limit; he shares the responsibility with very congressmen and every constituent who ever tried to pry money out of the government. Now that the debt deadline is at hand the responsibility is going to be handed out share and share alike. Politicians in favor of spending forever and taxing never are going to have to stand up to be counted.

THE OLD OIL

"South of the border, down Mexico way" liberal President Cardenas has expropriated oil in his eyes. He can't see what the Monroe doctrine has to do with his fair country any more.

This isn't hard to understand. It's like an Ohioan not being able to see what the United States navy (which puts oomph into the Monroe doctrine) has to do with his peace and security.

The way to clear up the matter is to pretend there isn't any Monroe doctrine or any United States navy. Their importance quickly becomes as obvious as President Cardenas is in this particular instance. About 75 years ago Mexico got into a jam with its European creditors. Their desire for payment, together with certain side ambitions of a politician known as Napoleon III, came to a head in an interesting experiment.

A ruler called Maximilian, being out of work at the time, consented to come to Mexico with a strong arm squad of French soldiers and run the country. There was a bogus plebiscite to make everything look regular and one day there was Maximilian. This was in 1864.

The only reason he was permitted to set up shop—the Monroe doctrine had been declared in 1823—was because the Civil war, which wasn't to end till 1865, had the United States tied in knots of its own making at the time. This country was behind the liberal government of Benito Juarez, Mexico's great liberator and the national hero to whom President Cardenas owes the liberal tradition that sustains him in office.

As soon as the Union had been restored, this government told Napoleon III to pick up his playthings. Juarez was restored to power, Maximilian was tried and convicted of murder and Mexico was restored to Mexicans. That was the end of European power politics in the new world. Without denying that some odd things have been done in the name of the Monroe doctrine, the good neighbors of President Cardenas "north of the border" don't think it's becoming of him to pretend the doctrine is something he has heard about but doesn't take seriously. The game's not worth the oil, to coin a phrase suitable to the occasion.

For Wednesday, January 17

A DIFFICULT though not dull day is forecast from the mixed astrological portents. There may be an unexpected change, journey or other upheaval, probably of a rather unsatisfactory or depressing nature, possibly incited by a below-par status of the health or illness at home. All may combine to create disagreements or want of approbation from employers, superiors or those in authority. However, there will be social or affectional compensations.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of unforeseen change, with removal or travel, possibly connected with changed employment or conflict with employers or others in authority. Illness or depression may be at the root of such adverse conditions which will be benefited by the change of scene. There also will be domestic, social or emotional comforts, with sympathy and understanding.

A child born on this day may be talented, creative and original, either in art, science or invention, although its delicate health may prove a detrimental factor to high success unless it be given proper care in its early years.

Rheumatism Most Prevalent Disease In U.S., Doctor Says

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What is the most frequent disease in North America?

Acute inflammatory rheumatism is first in prevalence, second in producing disability, second in producing invalidism and fourth in causing death in the United States. There are 6,850,000 patients who have or who have had inflammatory rheumatism out of our population of 127,000,000. There are almost twice as many cases as there are of heart disease.

The disability and invalidism are produced by the damage which acute inflammatory rheumatism does to the heart. It is a frequent cause of valvular disease of the heart. In order to prevent this complication, no matter how light the case may be, the patient, especially a child, should be kept at bed rest or as close to bed rest as possible for six weeks after the acute condition has subsided.

The Human's Six Somatic Senses

What is meant by the "six somatic senses"?

The five special senses, of course, are sight, hearing, smell, taste and feeling. We have, however, many other senses. The six somatic senses are called "temperature," "equilibrium," "hunger," "thirst," "muscle sense" and "pain."

Temperature—The skin has terminal nerves to receive feeling and also to notice heat and cold and other special sensations. There are about 30,000 tiny spots on the surface of the body that are sensitive to warmth and about 250,000 similar spots sensitive to cold. When the skin temperature rises, only the warm spots are stimulated.

When ice or snow touches the skin, only the cold spots are stimulated. On a very hot day or on standing over a radiator, both hot and cold spots are stimulated. That is why it is so uncomfortable.

Equilibrium—The sense of your position in space is governed by end organs located near the organ of hearing in the skull, the semi-circular canals. When you whirl around rapidly or ride on a merry-go-round, these canals are over-stimulated and the fluid inside them is disturbed, which puts you off your balance. The reeling drunken man has poisoned the cells of his semi-circular canals.

Hunger is a general bodily sensation, probably produced by contractions of the stomach.

Thirst is felt most acutely in the mouth, but it is a general bodily sensation because it can be relieved by injecting fluid into a vein.

Muscle sense enables you to judge roughly the weight of an object which you lift from the floor. It also allows you to judge your distance from an object.

Pain may be either a localized or general bodily sense. General pain arises from fatigue.

Dupuytren's Contraction

What is Dupuytren's contraction?

Dupuytren's contraction is the formation of scar tissue in the palm of the hand. The tendons of the fingers are not affected—only the connective tissue of the palm. It occurs in people whose occupation—tennis, gardening, golf causes them to irritate the inside of the hands. The fingers are drawn down to the palm. It can be relieved only by an operation.

STAFFORD WILL GIVE ADDRESS

Will Address Youngstown Chapter of Cost Accountants

L. D. Stafford of Detroit, district manager of the American Appraisal company, will address members of the Youngstown chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants at a dinner meeting at the Southern Hills Country club, near Youngstown, Wednesday.

His subject will be "Accounting for Depreciation Through Plant Ledger Control."

Member of N. A. C. A.

A graduate in mechanical engineering from the University of Cincinnati, Stafford has been associated with the American Appraisal company for more than 30 years. He is a member of the N. A. C. A. and was instrumental in the formation of chapters in St. Louis, Kansas City, Memphis and Grand Rapids.

Stafford will be accompanied by several of his business associates, among them William Armstrong of Cleveland, who is well known in this vicinity.

The Youngstown chapter of the N. A. C. A. is exceptionally active this winter in accounting and business circles. In addition to the monthly dinner meetings, a series of educational meetings are becoming of interest to a large number of members.

Experienced teachers are provided to review many phases of accounting work at the meetings, held on the fourth Wednesday of each month in the Y. M. C. A. in Youngstown. Anyone interested is welcome to attend the meetings.

Invited to Inspect Plant

Members of the Youngstown chapter have been invited to be guests of the General Fireproofing company on an inspection trip of its plant Jan. 24. The inspection tour will be followed by a dinner and program in the plant dining room.

The chapter membership has been increasing steadily until now it boasts more than 70 members, representing most of the industrial life in Youngstown, Girard, Warren, New Castle, Salem and East Liverpool. The association has 64 chapters, located in all parts of the United States, and 7,000 members.

SCHOOL NEWS AT DAMASCUS

Tests were given at the schools in Goshen township last week. Grade cards will be distributed Wednesday.

The Parent-Teacher association will meet Monday, Jan. 22.

The mothers of the band members will sponsor a show, "The Womanless Wedding," Jan. 16 and 17.

CLEVELAND — Miss Mildred Keiper, 30, finally won her first bingo prize. It was a big one—$1,000—but it got away. Two men followed her from the place, threatened her and took the money.

In coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, 235 E. 43rd st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Theater Attractions

A Paul Muni picture is always an event, and when it marks the first real debut of a new dramatic actress as does "We Are Not Alone", showing at the State Wednesday and Thursday, it is doubly important.

The famous James Hilton novel of an English country doctor, his sensitive, misunderstood young son, and a little Viennese dancer, has been brought to the screen with the original drama, pathos and characterization enhanced by the superlative performances of Muni and his leading lady, Jane Bryan, Flora Robson and Raymond Severn.

The man who wrote "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" and "Lost Horizon" duplicates their success in "We Are Not Alone". Richness of character, emotional depth and wide dramatic scope mark the new production in which Muni wears only ordinary makeup for the first time in several years. Jane Bryan, who has hitherto played only ingenue roles, justifies the predictions of Bettie Davis, with whom she has appeared several times, and other critics, and turns in a dramatic performance which almost matches Muni's in brilliance and technical perfection.

Concluding tonight at the State is "Swanee River", a story of Stephen Foster, featuring Don Ameche, Andrea Leeds and Al Jolson.

SANITARY COPS CLASS A SECOND ROUND TITLE

SWAMP CARROLL CLUB TO ANNEX LEAGUE HONORS

Sanitary Passers Join O. S. E. S. As Round Champion

Swamping the Carroll Club beneath a 35 to 40 score, the National Sanitary captured the second round championship of the Class A basketball league at the Memorial building last night.

With a record of five straight wins for the second round, the Sanitary joins the Ohio State Employment Service in the ranks of Class A round champions. The O. S. E. S. won the first round title.

Scoring Record
Lanky Bob Jeffries set a new individual scoring record for the season in plying the Sanitary to its fifth straight win, counting 27 points as he swished the netting with 11 field goals and five free throws.

The Carroll Club played on even terms with the Sanitary in the first quarter which ended with the score deadlocked at 10-10. Scoring 18 points to the Carrolls' 11 in the second period, the Sanitary led 28 to 21 at halftime.

Continuing to increase their advantage, the Sanitary passers tallied 15 points in the third period to lead 43 to 39 going into the final frame.

Walt Linder and "Gabby" Guappone paced the Carroll Club scoring, Linder counting 12 points and Guappone 10.

A scheduled Class A game between Roberts' Men's Shoppe and Demings was won by Roberts on a forfeit.

Baptists Win
A fourth-quarter rally enabled the Baptists to nose out Rudolph's Sohloans 20 to 19, in the lone Class B game.

The Sohloans, who held a two-point lead at halftime and a one-point edge at the end of the third quarter, played most of the fourth period with only four men after two of their players had been ousted from the game for committing too many fouls.

The victory enabled the Baptists to remain in the lead in the Class B league's first round race.

The Carroll Cadets remained close behind the Baptists when they were awarded a decision over the Trades Class on a forfeit.

BOWLING RESULTS

Fireworks expected in the Quaker City league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night failed to develop when a match between the first-place Colonial Finance and the second-place Althouse Motors was postponed.

The Recreation Billiards remained in third place in the league standings by taking a pair of games from the Hotel Lape. Other Quaker City matches gave the Masons three wins over Floding & Reynard Drugs, the Salem Motor two victories over the Coy Buicks, the Saxons two wins over Burt Capel Realty and the Columbiana Tyme Club two triumphs over the Golden Eagle.

Paced by Lynn Ferguson, the Electric Furnace won two of three games from Fitzpatrick Super Service to continue in first place in the American league at the Masonic temple alleys. Ferguson fired a 617 series to lead the Furnace team, putting together games of 201, 173 and 243.

The second-place Fernengel Colts remained eight games behind the Furnace by winning two out of three games with the Masons. In other American league matches the Democrats took three games from Demings and Lease Drugs won two out of three heats with the Ohio Edison.

DEATHS

MRS. G. L. ESHELMAN
BELOIT, Jan. 16—Mrs. Florabelle Eshelman, 62, wife of George L. Eshelman, died Monday morning in her home here following a week's illness.

Mrs. Eshelman was born at New Castle in Monroe county, O., and had resided here six years. She was a member of the Sharpshooter Methodist church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, William R. Eshelman of the home; three brothers, William and Arch Workman of Sebring and Oscar of Denison, and one sister, Ella May Workman of Beloit.

Funeral service will be in the Sebring Methodist church at 2 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. A. George Whiteman, the pastor officiating. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

MRS. AMANDA HOFFMAN
Mrs. Amanda Hoffman, 80, of Cleveland, formerly of Salem, died at 8:30 p. m. Sunday at the D. A. R. home in Tiffin.

She is survived by one son, William, of Cleveland, and two sisters, Mrs. John Walters of Salem and Mrs. Elizabeth Newhouse of R. D. 3, Salem.

He Slipped Up

PITTSBURGH — Nicholas C. O'Data figured that because of slippery streets he should leave his car at home.

He did—but brakes on the parked car gave way, and the machine rolled down a 375-foot hillside, smashing a half dozen trees.

O'Data's in the market for a new car.

JURY CONTINUES LUDWIG'S CASE

Four Other Cases Held Over; 11 Indictments Listed

John Mayhew, Leetonia, assault and battery.
O. H. Bates, Salem, issuing a check with insufficient funds.
Joseph Bailey, East Liverpool, forgery for old age pension check.
S. W. Connors, Wellsview, violation of real estate laws.
Dan Rufo, Canton, reckless driving.
Walter Ludwig, East Liverpool, manslaughter.

Richard and Junior Felger, Unity, larceny.

Another continued case was that of Raymond Reese of East Liverpool, arrested on a charge of manslaughter following a fatal traffic crash in East Liverpool.

The jurors, in a brief report, condemned the county jail by saying that "the upkeep of the jail is all right; the building all wrong and sanitation bad." The jury concurred in the opinion of former jurors in condemning the prison.

BRITISH ADMIT LOSS OF SUBS

Statement Comes After Announcement By Germany

were massing opposite their eastern frontiers.

Despite Germany's disclaimer of any intention to invade the low countries, the two nations did not relax their defense measures. The new United States ambassador to Brussels, John Cudahy, left his former post in Dublin under urgent instructions to assume his new duties, apparently because of tension in Belgium.

The Pan-American republics renewed their efforts to find a way of enforcing their "keep out" order to the world's belligerents. A committee of seven nations, representing the 21 republics, met at Rio de Janeiro for a new conference which took on added importance because of Britain's rejection of the 300-mile neutrality zone created by the American nations.

Britain called the zone "ineffective" and said it would provide a "vast sanctuary" for German warships. The British note, sent to Panama for communication to other American nations, replied to a Pan-American protest registered after three British cruisers fought the German battleship Admiral Graf Spee off the south American coast last month.
